How many solar panels do you need to power a house?

The goal for any solar project should be 100% electricity offset and maximum savings -- not necessarily to cram as many panels on a roof as possible. So, the number of panels you need to power a house varies based on three main factors: In this article, we'll show you how to manually calculate how many panels you'll need to power your home.

How many kW solar panels do I Need?

As we calculated earlier, the California household needs a 7.2 kW system to cover its electricity needs. A comparable household in Massachusetts needs a 9.9 kW system. So, in less sunny areas like Massachusetts, you might consider choosing highly efficient solar panels to maximize your energy output per square foot.

How much power does a solar panel use?

Solar panel power ratings range from 250W to 450W. Based on solar.com sales data,400W is the most popular power rating and provides a great balance of output and Price Per Watt (PPW). If you have limited roof space,you may consider a higher power rating to use fewer panels. If you want to spend less per panel,you may consider a lower wattage.

How do I calculate how many solar panels I Need?

You can calculate how many solar panels you need by dividing your yearly electricity usage by your area's production ratio and then dividing that number by the power output of your solar panels. To put it simply:
Number of panels = annual electricity usage /production ratio /panel wattage

Look at Your Utility Bill to Determine How Many Watts You use.Take The Amount of Sun Your Home Receives Into consideration.The Type of Solar Panel Will Affect Its Efficiency.Energy usage is measured in kilowatt-hours (kWh). KWh does not mean the number of kilowatts you use in an hour, but rather the amount of energy you would use keeping a 1,000-watt appliance running for 1 hour. The number of appliances that use power and how often they're running will affect the usage.
