Why are lithium batteries so popular in Australia?

Australia's unique landscape and lifestyle fuel the lithium battery boom. LiFePO4 batteries, with their lightweight design (50% lighter than lead-acid), high cycle life (2,000-6,000 cycles), and deep discharge capabilities (80-100%), are the preferred choice for powering 4WD adventures, RV camping, marine vessels, and off-grid homes.

How can lithium & manganese halve the cost of battery electrode production?

By improving the performance of abundant and affordable minerals, initially lithium and manganese, they aim to halve the current cost of battery electrode production - one of the costliest parts of the battery.
